⊘ Blind SQL Injection

Severity	High
Reported by module	Scripting (Blind_Sql_Injection.script)

Description

SQL injection (SQLi) refers to an injection attack wherein an attacker can execute malicious SQL statements that control a web application's database server.

Impact

An attacker can use SQL injection it to bypass a web application's authentication and authorization mechanisms and retrieve the contents of an entire database. SQLi can also be used to add, modify and delete records in a database, affecting data integrity. Under the right circumstances, SQLi can also be used by an attacker to execute OS commands, which may then be used to escalate an attack even further.

Recommendation

Use parameterized queries when dealing with SQL queries that contains user input. Parameterized queries allows the database to understand which parts of the SQL query should be considered as user input, therefore solving SQL injection.

⊘ SVN repository found

Severity	High
Reported by module	Scripting (SVN_Repository.script)

Description

Subversion metadata directory (.svn) was found in this folder. An attacker can extract sensitive information by requesting the hidden metadata directory that popular version control tool Subversion creates. The metadata directories are used for development purposes to keep track of development changes to a set of source code before it is committed back to a central repository (and vice-versa). When code is rolled to a live server from a repository, it is supposed to be done as an export rather than as a local working copy, and hence this problem.

Impact

These files may expose sensitive information that may help an malicious user to prepare more advanced attacks.

Recommendation

Remove these files from production systems or restrict access to the .svn directory. To deny access to all the .svn folders you need to add the following lines in the appropriate context (either global config, or vhost/directory, or from .htaccess):

<Directory ~ "\.svn">

Order allow,deny

Deny from all

</Directory>

⚠ Application error message

Severity	Medium
Reported by module	Scripting (Generic_Oracle_Padding.script)

Description

This alert requires manual confirmation

Application error or warning messages may expose sensitive information about an application's internal workings to an attacker.

Acunetix found an error or warning message that may disclose sensitive information. The message may also contain the location of the file that produced an unhandled exception. Consult the 'Attack details' section for more information about the affected page.

Impact

Error messages may disclose sensitive information which can be used to escalate attacks.

Recommendation

Verify that this page is disclosing error or warning messages and properly configure the application to log errors to a file instead of displaying the error to the user.

Severity	Medium
Reported by module	Scripting (Development_Files.script)

Description

A configuration file (e.g. Vagrantfile, Gemfile, Rakefile, ...) was found in this directory. This file may expose sensitive information that could help a malicious user to prepare more advanced attacks. It's recommended to remove or restrict access to this type of files from production systems.

Impact

These files may disclose sensitive information. This information can be used to launch further attacks.

Recommendation

Remove or restrict access to all configuration files acessible from internet.

⚠ HTML form without CSRF protection

Severity	Medium
Reported by module	Crawler

Description

This alert requires manual confirmation

Cross-Site Request Forgery (CSRF, or XSRF) is a vulnerability wherein an attacker tricks a victim into making a request the victim did not intend to make. Therefore, with CSRF, an attacker abuses the trust a web application has with a victim's browser.

Acunetix found an HTML form with no apparent anti-CSRF protection implemented. Consult the 'Attack details' section for more information about the affected HTML form.

Impact

An attacker could use CSRF to trick a victim into accessing a website hosted by the attacker, or clicking a URL containing malicious or unauthorized requests.

CSRF is a type of 'confused deputy' attack which leverages the authentication and authorization of the victim when the forged request is being sent to the web server. Therefore, if a CSRF vulnerability could affect highly privileged users such as administrators full application compromise may be possible.

Recommendation

Verify if this form requires anti-CSRF protection and implement CSRF countermeasures if necessary.

The recommended and the most widely used technique for preventing CSRF attacks is know as an anti-CSRF token, also sometimes referred to as a synchronizer token. The characteristics of a well designed anti-CSRF system involve the following attributes.

- The anti-CSRF token should be unique for each user session
- The session should automatically expire after a suitable amount of time
- The anti-CSRF token should be a cryptographically random value of significant length
- The anti-CSRF token should be cryptographically secure, that is, generated by a strong Pseudo-Random Number Generator (PRNG) algorithm
- The anti-CSRF token is added as a hidden field for forms, or within URLs (only necessary if GET requests cause state changes, that is, GET requests are not idempotent)
- The server should reject the requested action if the anti-CSRF token fails validation

When a user submits a form or makes some other authenticated request that requires a Cookie, the anti-CSRF token should be included in the request. Then, the web application will then verify the existence and correctness of this token before processing the request. If the token is missing or incorrect, the request can be rejected.

Java Management Extensions (JMX/RMI) service detected

Severity	Medium
Reported by module	Scripting (JMX_RMI_service.script)

Description

Java Management Extensions (JMX) is a Java technology that supplies tools for managing and monitoring applications, system objects, devices (e.g. printers) and service-oriented networks. Those resources are represented by objects called MBeans (for Managed Bean). In the API, classes can be dynamically loaded and instantiated. RMI (Remote Method Invocation) is a Java specific implementation of a Remote Procedure Call interface.

Impact

No impact is associated with this vulnerability.

Recommendation

In a production system is not recommended to have the JMX/RMI service publicly available. Access to this service should be restricted.

Password field submitted using GET method

Severity	Medium
Reported by module	Crawler

Description

This page contains a form with a password field. This form submits user data using the GET method, therefore the contents of the password field will appear in the URL.Sensitive information should not be passed via the URL. URLs could be logged or leaked via the Referer header.

Impact

Possible sensitive information disclosure.

Recommendation

The password field should be submitted through POST instead of GET.

⚠ User credentials are sent in clear text

Severity	Medium
Reported by module	Crawler

Description

User credentials are transmitted over an unencrypted channel. This information should always be transferred via an encrypted channel (HTTPS) to avoid being intercepted by malicious users.

Impact

A third party may be able to read the user credentials by intercepting an unencrypted HTTP connection.

Recommendation

Because user credentials are considered sensitive information, should always be transferred to the server over an encrypted connection (HTTPS).

⊙ Clickjacking: X-Frame-Options header missing

Severity	Low
Reported by module	Scripting (Clickjacking_X_Frame_Options.script)

Description

Clickjacking (User Interface redress attack, UI redress attack, UI redressing) is a malicious technique of tricking a Web user into clicking on something different from what the user perceives they are clicking on, thus potentially revealing confidential information or taking control of their computer while clicking on seemingly innocuous web pages.

The server didn't return an X-Frame-Options header which means that this website could be at risk of a clickjacking attack. The X-Frame-Options HTTP response header can be used to indicate whether or not a browser should be allowed to render a page inside a frame or iframe. Sites can use this to avoid clickjacking attacks, by ensuring that their content is not embedded into other sites.

Impact

The impact depends on the affected web application.

Recommendation

Configure your web server to include an X-Frame-Options header. Consult Web references for more information about the possible values for this header.

⊙ Documentation file

Severity	Low
Reported by module	Scripting (Readme_Files.script)

Description

A documentation file (e.g. readme.txt, changelog.txt, ...) was found in this directory. The information contained in these files could help an attacker identify the web application you are using and sometimes the version of the application. It's recommended to remove these files from production systems.

Impact

These files may disclose sensitive information. This information can be used to launch further attacks.

Recommendation

Remove or restrict access to all documentation file acessible from internet.

⊙ File upload

Severity	Low
Reported by module	Crawler

Description

This page allows visitors to upload files to the server. Various web applications allow users to upload files (such as pictures, images, sounds, ...). Uploaded files may pose a significant risk if not handled correctly. A remote attacker could send a multipart/form-data POST request with a specially-crafted filename or mime type and execute arbitrary code.

Impact

If the uploaded files are not safely checked an attacker may upload malicious files.

Recommendation

Restrict file types accepted for upload: check the file extension and only allow certain files to be uploaded. Use a whitelist approach instead of a blacklist. Check for double extensions such as .php.png. Check for files without a filename like .htaccess (on ASP.NET, check for configuration files like web.config). Change the permissions on the upload folder so the files within it are not executable. If possible, rename the files that are uploaded.

ⓘ Insecure response with wildcard '*' in Access-Control-Allow-Origin

Severity	Low
Reported by module	Scripting (Access_Control_Allow_Origin_Dir.script)

Description

Cross-origin resource sharing (CORS) is a mechanism that allows restricted resources (e.g. fonts) on a web page to be requested from another domain outside the domain from which the resource originated. The Access-Control-Allow-Origin header indicates whether a resource can be shared based by returning the value of the Origin request header, "*", or "null" in the response.

If a website responds with Access-Control-Allow-Origin: * the requested resource allows sharing with every origin. Therefore, any website can make XHR (XMLHTTPRequest) requests to your site and access the responses. It's not recommended to use the Access-Control-Allow-Origin: * header.

Impact

Any website can make XHR requests to your site and access the responses.

Recommendation

Is recommended not to use Access-Control-Allow-Origin: *. Instead the Access-Control-Allow-Origin header should contain the list of origins that can make COR requests.

⊙ Login page password-guessing attack

Severity	Low
Reported by module	Scripting (Html_Authentication_Audit.script)

Description

A common threat web developers face is a password-guessing attack known as a brute force attack. A brute-force attack is an attempt to discover a password by systematically trying every possible combination of letters, numbers, and symbols until you discover the one correct combination that works.

This login page doesn't have any protection against password-guessing attacks (brute force attacks). It's recommended to implement some type of account lockout after a defined number of incorrect password attempts. Consult Web references for more information about fixing this problem.

Impact

An attacker may attempt to discover a weak password by systematically trying every possible combination of letters, numbers, and symbols until it discovers the one correct combination that works.

Recommendation

It's recommended to implement some type of account lockout after a defined number of incorrect password attempts.

⊙ Possible sensitive directories

Severity	Low
Reported by module	Scripting (Possible_Sensitive_Directories.script)

Description

A possible sensitive directory has been found. This directory is not directly linked from the website.This check looks for common sensitive resources like backup directories, database dumps, administration pages, temporary directories. Each one of these directories could help an attacker to learn more about his target.

Impact

This directory may expose sensitive information that could help a malicious user to prepare more advanced attacks.

Recommendation

Restrict access to this directory or remove it from the website.

ⓘ Sensitive page could be cached

Severity	Low
Reported by module	Crawler

Description

This page contains possible sensitive information (e.g. a password parameter) and could be potentially cached. Even in secure SSL channels sensitive data could be stored by intermediary proxies and SSL terminators. To prevent this, a Cache-Control header should be specified.

Impact

Possible sensitive information disclosure.

Recommendation

Prevent caching by adding "Cache Control: No-store" and "Pragma: no-cache" to the page headers.

ⓘ Password type input with auto-complete enabled

Severity	Informational
Reported by module	Crawler

Description

When a new name and password is entered in a form and the form is submitted, the browser asks if the password should be saved.Thereafter when the form is displayed, the name and password are filled in automatically or are completed as the name is entered. An attacker with local access could obtain the cleartext password from the browser cache.

Impact

Possible sensitive information disclosure.

Recommendation

The password auto-complete should be disabled in sensitive applications.
To disable auto-complete, you may use a code similar to:

<INPUT TYPE="password" AUTOCOMPLETE="off">
